Smart 2D Cutting enables you to create tables of the ideal shear cut for any sheet material. In fact, all the technology is fully integrated to calculate what is the best method to cut any sheet with the minimum amount of materials. A good tool to compare different designs and to save money at the same time. This program calculates optimal times and numbers with regards to sheet material type, material thickness, material widths, number of parts, the material saw-width and the shop environment. Comprehensive user interface and design The interface is very simple to use, there are no complicated settings and no additional needs for plugins. It is not very colorful in appearance, but it is clean and a lot of information is available. Speed is not affected by the large amount of details that you have to input, so cutting down your cutting time is easy. No additional hardware needed, unless you wish to increase the database and use a bigger memory. Import and export of data Smart2DCutting has a very good tool that enables you to import a spreadsheet in order to save time. Data can be exported directly to the folder in which the program is, and everything stays where you left it. It is a great option for people who need to create and optimize tables with a relative minimum of effort. Simple and intuitive interface Even for newbies, the interface is very easy to use. It includes helpful tutorials and a very well-thought out Help system. Getting around the software program is extremely simple. The only thing that could have been improved are the menus, and the fact that the interface design was not updated in a long time. On the other hand, although the product is an old one, it can still be considered as a first-rate tool to minimize production costs. We recommend it to those who want to save a lot of time and money, and want to get their hands on an accurate calculation software.
